A first Dublin centre in Germany will open in Hamburg-Rahlstedt as part of a pilot project supported by the Federal Ministry of the Interior. The centre will support the objective to further speed up the procedures for returning Dublin cases for which other EU states are responsible for the asylum procedure. Those who will be transferred under the Dublin procedure will only receive so-called bridging benefits in the form of benefits in kind for a period of two weeks.

Source(s)

- Federal Ministry of the Interior | Bundesministerium des Innern (12 February, 2025), Erstes Dublin-Zentrum in Hamburg für schnelle Überstellungen von Schutzsuchenden in zuständige EU-Staaten [First Dublin centre in Hamburg for rapid transfers of asylum seekers to responsible EU states], https://www.bmi.bund.de/SharedDocs/pressemitteilungen/DE/2025/02/besuch-hh-hbf-ankunftszentrum.html

Date of development
12.02.2025
Country
Germany
Thematic area(s)
Responsibility determination
Development type
Practice

© European Union Agency for Asylum, 2026. Reproduction is authorised, provided the source is acknowledged.
Document generated on 25-11-2026
For more information, please contact: ias@euaa.europa.eu