According to information published by the Ministry Denmark marked a record law of approximately 860 persons who where granted asylum in 2024.

- The total number of asylum applications in 2024 was approximately 2,300. This is the third-lowest since 2007, and the number of asylum applications has generally remained at a stable low level in recent years. It typically takes a few months to process an asylum application.
  A foreigner who has a well-founded fear of being persecuted due to, for example, race, religion or political opinions may be granted protection (asylum) in Denmark.
- An asylum permit is a time-limited residence permit for temporary residence in Denmark until protection is no longer needed.
- Persons who have applied for a residence permit under the special law for Ukraine are not part of the asylum statistics.

  You can read more about the figures on the Danish Immigration Service's website.

Source(s)

- Ministry of Immigration and Integration | Udlændinge- og Integrationsministeriet (8 February, 2025), Historisk lavt: Ca. 860 blev meddelt asyl i 2024 [Historically low: Approximately 860 were granted asylum in 2024], https://uim.dk/nyhedsarkiv/2025/februar/httpsuimdknyhedsarkiv2025februarhistorisk-lavt/

Date of development
08.02.2025
Country
Denmark
Thematic area(s)
General asylum and migration development, First instance determination, Assessment of applications, Content of protection, Forms of protection
Development type
Practice

© European Union Agency for Asylum, 2026. Reproduction is authorised, provided the source is acknowledged.