The Norwegian Institute for Urban and Regional Research (NIBR) published the report Migration and Integration 2025–2026: Report for Norway to the OECD. It is a contribution to the OECD's reporting system on migration developments in its member countries.

The report describes immigration and integration policies, with an emphasis on changes during the latest reporting year, 2025–2026. The reporting is based on official statistics collected from several institutions, primarily Statistics Norway (SSB) and the Norwegian Directorate of Immigration (UDI). It also provides an overview of new policies and measures relevant to migration and integration, as set out in white papers, legislative proposals, action plans, strategies, and relevant studies and research.

The report was prepared by the Norwegian Institute for Urban and Regional Research (NIBR) on behalf of the Ministry of Labour and Social Inclusion.
