A new ordinance was issued on 16 July 2025 extending and adapting the provisions of the Law of 26 January 2024 to control immigration and improve integration which empowers the government to take the necessary measures to implement and, if necessary, adapt the provisions of the law in overseas territories such as Saint Barthélemy, Saint Martin, the Wallis and Futuna Islands, French Polynesia, New Caledonia and the French Southern and Antarctic Territories (except Saint Pierre and Miquelon).

With regard to removal, the ordinance indicates that administrative detention periods are subject to changes in the Wallis and Futuna Islands, French Polynesia and New Caledonia. The lifting of protection against expulsion measures and against obligations to leave French territory is extended to Saint Barthélemy, Saint Martin, the Wallis and Futuna Islands, French Polynesia and New Caledonia.

The ordinance was signed by the President of the Republic on 16 July 2025 and published in the Official Journal on 17 July 2025.
