The State Agency for Refugees has partnered with the University of National and World Economy (UNWE) on a project aimed at integrating young refugees through training. UNWE won the project “I Learn, I Connect, I Succeed: Integration of Young Refugees through Training”, financed under the program “Sofia – City of Youth and the Active,” 2025.

The project focuses on identifying the main educational needs of people seeking or granted protection in Sofia Municipality. Based on these needs, a series of thematic trainings will be organized to raise awareness among young refugees, promote intercultural dialogue, and support social inclusion.
