The public consultation on the draft ordinance changes was held from 20 June to 13 October 2025, receiving 61 responses from cantons, political parties, institutions and other stakeholders.

Most cantons supported or were broadly favorable to the proposal, though many highlighted significant financial and staffing implications and called for compensation from the federal government. Some also pointed to uncertainties regarding the implementation of the new EU screening procedure and requested practical solutions.

Several civil society organisations and professional associations emphasised the importance of European cooperation but criticised the reforms as restrictive. They urged Switzerland to use its discretion in implementation to ensure strong protection of refugees, including better safeguards for children, family unity and personal data.

Platforme traite and FIZ Centre d'assistance aux migrantes et aux victimes de la traite des femmes raised concerns about insufficient protection for victims of human trafficking and noted that current migration policies may cause risks due to a lack of legal migration pathways and difficult conditions at EU external borders.
