Refugee Support Aegean publishes report on reception in Greece for the first half of 2026

In November 2026, Refugee Support Aegean (RSA) reported on statistics and overall conditions of reception in Greece. According to the report, which uses figures supplied in response to parliamentary questions and builds on RSA's documentation of the asylum process and reception conditions, the reception system shows consistent gaps. The organisation reported staffing shortages; absence of financial allowance for applicants; shortages in medical care, mental health and interpretation; and no alternative housing for vulnerable people.

More information is available here.

Source(s)

- Refugee Support Aegean (2 November, 2026), [Statistics on reception & refugee camps in Greece: first half of 2026], https://rsaegean.org/en/statistics-on-reception-refugee-camps-in-greece-first-half-of-2026/

Date of development
02.11.2026
Country
Greece
Thematic area(s)
Reception, Applicants with special needs
Development type
Publication

© European Union Agency for Asylum, 2026. Reproduction is authorised, provided the source is acknowledged.